PARK COMMISSION REMOVING SIGNS

All Main Highways under Control of Government will be Freed from Advertising Posters and Painted Fence Rails.

In accordance with the policy recently announced by State Highway Commissioner Cunningham, the National Park Commission has commenced the work of tearing down all removable signs on the public roads which they have had piked and are under their control. All signs which cannot be removed are being painted over, so that no advertising of any nature will appear on the government roads in this vicinity.

Hundreds of signs advertising automobile oils, tires, and many other supplies were removed on Wednesday and the work was continued to-day. On many of the rail fences, paint had been used by local firms to advertise their wares or their places of business. Paint, as nearly the color of wood as could be secured, is being used to obliterate these advertisements and, when the work is completed, not one sign will appear.

The roads on which the work is being done are as follows: Hanover road to the George Stock farm; Harrisburg road to the Jones' Battalion marker; Carlisle road to the James Ross property; Mummaburg road to the old Edward Schriver place; Fairfield road to Hill Top farm; Emmitsburg road to Peach Orchard; Taneytown road to Granite Lane; Wheatfield road from Rosensteel's to West Confederate avenue.

For years no signs of any sort have been permitted on what are known as distinctively battlefield roads, and the new work covers the main highways which have been rebuilt under direction of the Park Commission. Trespass signs and others that are necessary for the landowners are allowed to stand, but strictly advertising placards are doomed, and Gettysburg will contribute its share of work to remove these unsightly blots on the much traveled highways.

MUST SECURE RIGHT OF WAY

Or Tearing up of Railroad Tracks will be Continued. Condition that now Faces New Owners of the Berlin Branch.

When residents of Abbottstown and East Berlin purchased the equipment of the Berlin Branch Railroad some days ago, what they bought consisted only of the ties and rails, the old company having surrendered the right of way when they gave up their charter. According to their original charter this right of way reverts to the land owners.

The committee of citizens who effected the purchase also secured releases from most of these property owners from Berlin Junction to Abbottstown, and, if all can be secured, the tearing up of the remainder of the track—the last day for which is August 17 by Court order—will not be necessary. It is believed that similar releases can be secured along the route from Abbottstown to East Berlin and the line will be re-laid over the old road bed.

Application must be made for a new charter, stock sold, and an organization effected. A preliminary meeting to consider all these details will be held this evening in East Berlin, at the P. O. S. of A. Hall.

In announcing the meeting the committee says:

"It is very urgent that every person interested in having a railroad attend. It means either the success of the movement or the entire abandonment of the road.

"There seems to be an impression through the community that the undersigned paid for the four miles of road purchased from W. D. Himes, whereas, we only guarantee payment of it and it is up to the citizens to stand by us in this movement, to get a line from East Berlin to Berlin Junction. By your absence you will not only retard the movement but may be the cause of the entire abandonment of the project, as this will absolutely be the last meeting that will be held. Again urgently requesting your presence and assistance in this movement for the welfare of the community."

GUESTS AT DANCE

Hospitality of Former Residents is Greatly Appreciated.

Gettysburg's base ball team and fans were royally entertained in Martinsburg on Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thorn and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gerhardt had a theatre party and dance for which about two hundred invitations had been issued. In addition to the team the following Gettysburg people enjoyed the delightful hospitality of the West Virginians, C. B. Hartman, O. S. Kleinfelter, P. M. Bruner, H. E. Bumbaugh, J. A. Holtzworth, Felix Foller, and Ernest Ziegler.

The most cordial relations have existed between the two towns ever since the beginning of the season. After Wednesday's game "Country" Morris, manager of the Martinsburg club, said: "I can't for the life of me see why that Gettysburg team is in last place. We have had all kinds of trouble beating them almost every time we have played, and to my mind they are as good as any team in the league."

CALL HALT ON WASTE OF WATER

Residents of Littlestown Must be Careful in Order to Save Supply during Dry Season. Town Council Hears Complaint.

In view of the long continued dry weather and the resulting shortage in water supply the Littlestown borough council has placed a ban on any unnecessary use for street sprinkling and other purposes.

At a special session of the council the water committee reported that at quite a number of places the street wash is used to supply several homes upon one subscription of the water rent, at other places it is put upon the street until the water flows down the streets in rivulets, and several sprinkles the streets at least four and five times a day. The water committee states that the rules are disregarded, and that all homes where hose are fastened for the garden, after 9 o'clock in the morning will in the future be without water. The committee has asked the council to shut off the street and water supply that shows a misusage.

Burgess Duttera suggested to the council that it might be well to put a curb down on the new streets in Crouse Park as otherwise the pavements will be as ungraded as those of the other regular streets.

The secretary was instructed to notify the Hanover Light, Heat and Power Company to put stone along their track within the borough limits. The trolley company is bonded to cover the track part with stone and eighteen inches on either side. They suggested that the borough coat the other parts with stone in order to keep their stone in place. However, they will be instructed to put stone on at once because the track is dangerous to traffic as it now is.

Littlestown has had some trouble with people who wish to lay pavements but are held up on account of not having the grade. Engineer Kohr surveyed the streets some time ago but has not as yet returned the plans and specifications so that the curb line can be put down.

BUSY DAYS AT COPPER MINES

People Financially Interested Hear of Gold and Silver being Found. Ship Six Carloads of Roofing Material Weekly.

Stockholders in the United Milling and Smelting Copper Company have been much gratified at the news that a vein of gold was recently struck at the Charmian mine, with a small sprinkling of silver. It is believed that the two minerals will be found in paying quantities, although definite information as to the size of the vein is lacking.

It was while laborers were operating a drill some distance under the ground that the gold and silver were discovered. On several occasions small quantities of gold have also been found in the Lingular mine at New London but it was stated this was not in the quantities as that at the Charmian mine.

The high price of copper which is prevailing at this time is also welcomed by those interested in the United Milling and Smelting Company. Since the outbreak of the war the price of copper has steadily advanced until now it is selling at 21 and 22 cents per pound, while the usual price is 14 or 15 cents. There is a great demand for copper, it was reported, and the supply is not equal to the demand. The mineral is used exclusively in the manufacture of war materials. The Lingular mine has been in constant operation for some time, since the United Milling and Smelting Company was formed.

The property of the Charmian mine is covered by green looking stone, which are being crushed and sold for slag roofing. It is reported the stone find a ready sale on the markets throughout the United States, and the output is not equal to the demand. For this reason it has been necessary to increase the force of operators, and the hours of work, until at this time, two shifts are employed.

The company is at present shipping out six carloads of this fine stone each week, which is equal to 240 tons.

LOST 500,000 IN WARSAW DRIVE

Russia Claims Teutonic Invasion is Checked.

Lines are Holding Firm

London, July 29.—Though the Germans now hold a great line from the gulf of Riga, sweeping southward around Warsaw, thence half encircling the city and stretching away to the Galician frontier, near Sokal, it is estimated they have lost 500,000 men, perhaps more, in this, the most ambitious movement of the war, and the Russian front is not yet broken on the Narew river, north of the Polish capital.

The Russians have made a stubborn show of resistance, holding Field Marshal von Hindenburg for the time being in check, while to the south the combined Austro-German forces struggling to seize the Lublin-Cholm railway, have been for days on the threshold of success, without being able actually to achieve their goal.

Fighting on this latter front has been renewed with great intensity, and the Teutons claim to have improved their position on the extreme right, which is resting on the Bug river.

Immediately west of Warsaw comparative quiet prevails and it is along the Lublin-Cholm sector or in the Narew river region that it is believed a crisis will be reached.

Which one of these fronts is of the greater strategic importance to London critics cannot agree, but this is irrelevant as a German victory on either one doubtless would mean the fall of Warsaw.

The German forces in the Baltic provinces advancing along a front approximately eighty miles wide toward Vilna, with a view to seizing the railway from Warsaw to Petrograd, are daily becoming a more potent factor in the fighting, for, linked up with the forces to the southwest, they give the Germans a front of three hundred miles with which to effect a vast turning movement north of Warsaw.

The troops operating against Riga, from which city they are only twenty miles distant, are considered in the nature of an independent column, and it is these forces which have come under the fire of the Russian warships.

Counter Attacks Hold Germans.

Petrograd, July 29.—Military critics here are giving attention to the operations on the left bank of the Narew, those against Cholm and along the Bug.

The Germans have brought up strong reserves, but the Russians are offering a powerful defense and have taken the offensive successfully at several points.

The pressure of the Germans on the Nadarzyn-Piasenozno line, west of the Vistula, is regarded as designed to prevent the Russians from withdrawing their attention from that section. While a certain economy of German effort is noted in the southern area of hostilities where operations between the Vistula and the Wieprz have reached a standstill, observers see a tendency on the part of the Teutonic allies to widen the sphere of hostilities toward the east.

PROVE AMERICAN GUILTY

Detroit Man Convicted of Trying to Destroy Canada Factory.

Letter was found guilty also of conspiring with Albert Kaltschmidt and one Schmidt, of Detroit, to blow up the Windsor Armory, the Peabody Company and other concerns. The explosion conviction carries a penalty of life imprisonment.

U. S. SOUNDS BERLIN ON ORDNA ATTACK

Germany Asked Why Attempt Was Made to Sink Her.

Berlin, July 29.—The American ambassador presented to the foreign office a note of inquiry regarding the attack by a German submarine boat on the British steamship Orduna.

The Cunard liner Orduna, having 227 passengers on board—twenty-one of them American citizens—was attacked on July 9 by a German submarine south of Queenstown near the point where the Lusitania was sunk. It was stated by the captain of the steamship and others on board that the submarine without warning launched a torpedo at the Orduna, which missed its mark and afterwards shelled her.

Leelanaw Note Next.

Washington, July 29.—Details of the procedure of the German submarine which on Sunday sank the American steamship Leelanaw off the coast of Scotland have lessened the tension regarding the general situation.

Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador to London, forwarded a report by the British admiralty on the sinking of the Leelanaw. The admiralty reported that the Leelanaw was flying the American flag when overtaken and that the crew had plenty of time to take to the boats which were towed sixty miles until a strange vessel was sighted.

The fact that the submarine not only gave ample notice before sinking the Leelanaw, but actually carried the crew to within a safe distance from the shore, indicates, officials think, that Germany is disposed to do everything possible to keep submarine warfare within international law.

U-BOAT SINK NEUTRALS

Danish and Swedish Craft Suffer Along With British Trawlers.

London, July 29.—The British steamship Hogarth of 1231 tons, was sunk by a German submarine near the Sizewell bank.

Eight of the crew, including the captain, were saved. Ten are missing. In addition, five neutral craft, two Swedish and three Danish, have fallen victims to the undersea craft in the North sea.

The Swedish steamship Emma and the Danish sailing ships Napstanes, Elma and Marie were attacked and sunk off Longstone on Monday. The crews were landed.

All four ships were laden with lumber, and bound for England. The Emma was sunk with a bomb. The other three vessels were burned.

HAYTI PRESIDENT SLAIN BY MOB

Is Taken From French Legation and Shot.

DRAW BODY IN STREETS

U. S. Cruiser Washington, With Admiral Caperton, Now on Way to Port-au-Prince.

Port-au-Prince, July 29.—A mob of infuriated Haitians removed Vibron Guillaume, president of Hayti, from the French legation, where he took refuge and shot him to death in front of the building.

This act followed immediately the burial of the 160 political prisoners who were massacred in prison at the time of the revolutionary outbreak against Guillaume. The mob was composed in large part of relatives of the victims of this wholesale execution.

The crowd invaded the French legation and seized Guillaume. M. Girard, the French minister to Hayti, protested, but he was powerless before the fury of the people. Guillaume was dragged from the legation. Once in the street the crowd surged around him with imprecations and he was promptly shot.

Even then the anger of the people was not appeased. The body of the president was mutilated and, tied to the end of a rope, was dragged through the streets of the city.

The arrival of the American cruiser Washington with Rear-Admiral Caperton on board, is expected at any moment. The Washington has been on the north coast of Hayti. M. Girard was counting on the coming of a cruiser to afford protection to the legation.

The president, together with members of his family, Tuesday took refuge under the French flag, after he had been driven from the presidential palace by the revolutionaries, who, in an attack lasting several hours, partly destroyed the executive mansion. The attempt to seize President Guillaume failed because of the energetic protestations of the French minister.

It is generally feared that the consternation over the reign of terror that has prevailed for several days and which culminated in the assassination of General Guillaume and his political opponents will be succeeded by a great outburst of fury. The population of the capital is excited by the massacre of 160 political prisoners, including former President Oreste Zamor, who were executed by order of General Oscar, the governor-general of Port-au-Prince, when the rebels attacked the presidential palace.

BOY KILLS SISTER IN PLAY

Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded and Points it as He Pulls Trigger.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 29.—Not knowing a double-barreled shotgun was loaded, 11-year-old Antonio Battagliese, 1238 South Thirteenth street, playfully pointed the weapon at his sister, Kate, 18 years old, and shot her, inflicting wounds from which she died of a few hours later.

The accident happened while they were visiting relatives near Hammon, N. J. The boy stood only five feet away from his sister when he pulled the trigger. The shot was discharged in the girl's abdomen.

SEEKS MAYORALTY AT $1

Wealthy Reading Man Willing to Take Office Without Salary.

Reading, July 29.—Dr. F. H. Brobst, head of the Taxpayers' League, who is being urged to become a candidate for mayor, in a statement declared that the only condition upon which he would accept was that the salary should be reduced from $3500 annually to $1 a year.

Doctor Brobst is one of Reading's wealthiest citizens, and has been responsible for the conviction of city officials for grafting.

Bus Dives Into Canal Bed.

Harrisburg, July 29.—Nine persons had a narrow escape from death when B. Reed's big road jitney bus dived thirty feet down a steep bank near Dauphin, landing in the dry bed of the old Pennsylvania canal. Of the eight passengers six were women. The steering gear of the car was broken by a jolt and Reed lost control. No one was hurt.

BECKER MUST GO TO THE CHAIR

Justice Ford Denies Him a New Trial.

New York, July 29.—Charles Becker's motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence was denied by Supreme Court Justice Ford.

There is now no power on earth which can save Becker from going to the electric chair tomorrow except Governor Whitman unless, of course, new evidence is discovered which will stand the test which Becker's latest offering failed to and upon which Justice Ford has passed. District Attorney Perkins and members of his legal staff and Justice Ford himself, say there is no appeal from the court's findings, although W. Bourke Cockran, chief of Becker's counsel, believes that he can find a way.

Justice Ford upholds all the contentions of District Attorney Perkins in regard to the newly discovered evidence which was offered by Mr. Cockran. Becker's own statement, containing the first definite news of the meeting he had with Big Tim Sullivan the Sunday night before the murder is discarded as not newly discovered, because Becker knew about it at the times of his trials and failed to make use of it.

All the attacks upon the informers, particularly Rose and Webber, which are made in the eleven affidavits offered by Mr. Cockran, are declared to be cumulative by Justice Ford.

START DEFENSE LEAGUE

200 Citizens of Baltimore and Vicinity Pledge Support.

Baltimore, July 29.—Two hundred leading citizens of this city and state, including three court of appeals judges, bankers, lawyers and business men organized the Maryland League for National Defense.

Some of the members pledged themselves to pay $25 and upward per year to support the movement, others $5 and the rest $1.

It is the intention of those back of the movement to start a propaganda for a large army and navy to defend the country from the assaults of a foreign nation. Judge N. Charles Burke, of the court of appeals, presided.

Husband Had His Good Points.

A London mission worker tells how shocked she was to encounter this bit of cynicism in the slums. The conversation was between two women whose married life had not been particularly felicitous. "Well," said one of them, "of course we have our troubles with all of 'em. But I'll say this for my second husband—he's better than my first. He's in jail so much that practically all I earn I have for myself."

Think Brightness.

Brightness and happiness in the mind bring brightness and happiness in our lives. The future is but the reflection of our present thoughts. We can bring either sunshine or darkness in the future by thinking brightness or gloom now. So, let the model of our futures be full of light and joy if we are to insure these qualities for ourselves.

in which you have not the slightest interest. That very fact is your salvation. You will get out of yourself completely, which you cannot do if you attend exclusively those functions in line with your own tastes.

STAIR HAD THREE HITS BUT LOST

Gettysburg's Pitcher Did his Share Toward Winning First Game With Martinsburg but was Beaten in the Tenth with Two Out.

Though Gettysburg played errorless ball, they could not get the decision over Martinsburg in the ten inning contest on Wednesday night, with two out the West Virginians pushed across the winning run. Final score 5 to 4.

Gettysburg's hard hitting forced the retirement of Clarke early in the game and Mumford replaced him. Stair was in the box for Gettysburg and eleven hits were made off his delivery. Both teams hit hard, no less than seven two baggers being registered during the fray. Stair had one of these and two singles, sustaining his reputation as the "hard hitting pitcher."

"Whitey" Reiff, the college short stop, saved the game in its earlier stages when, with three Martinsburg men on base, he leaped high into the air, pulled down a hot liner, and fell around over several times but holding on to the ball for the third out.

President Boyer of the League, has reversed Empire Glatts in a decision at Hanover last Saturday when he allowed a run to count which was made while a double play was completed, retiring the side. The game, as a result, is not included in the won and lost column and must be played over, the Patriots as a result settling a trifle more snugly in the basement.

Berlin's Bouquet.

Paris was teaching the world when there was no capital in Germany; London has been a commercial center for a thousand years, and Oxford was a hundred years old before even the University of Prague, the first in Germany, was founded by Charles IV in 1348. You may like or dislike these cities, but at any rate they have a bouquet; Berlin has none.

Traction Engines Do Good Work.

Using traction engines for pulling down the big trees of the western Australian forests has proved a success. The government owns a number of plants and last year cleared the trees off 5,700 acres for settlers in the heavily timbered districts, and also rolled down 5,500 acres of scrub.

RECIPES WORTH TRYING.

Cauliflower Hongroise.—Prepare cauliflower as for boiled cauliflower and steam until soft.

Separate in pieces and pour over the following sauce: Mix one and one-half teaspoonsful of mustard, one and one-quarter teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, one and one-quarter teaspoonfuls of paprika.

Add yolks of three eggs lightly beaten, one fourth cupful of olive oil and one-half cupful of vinegar. Cook over hot water until the mixture thickens. Remove from the fire and add two table-spoonfuls of butter cooked with one teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley.

Grandmother's Sauce.—Cream together a cupful of sifted sugar and half a cupful of butter; add a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon and an egg well beaten. Boil a teaspoonful of milk and turn it boiling hot over the mixture slowly, stirring all the time. This will cook the egg smoothly. It may be served hot or cold.

Lemon Sauce.—One cupful of sugar, half a cupful of butter, one egg beaten light, one lemon (juice and grated rind), half a cupful of boiling water. Put it in a tin basin and thicken over steam.

Plain Pudding Sauce.—A good sauce to go with plain fruit pudding is made by mixing one cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of best molasses, half a cupful of butter and one large teaspoonful of flour; add the juice and grated rind of one lemon, half a nutmeg grated, half a teaspoonful of cloves and cinnamon. When these are all stirred together add a teaspoonful of boiling water; stir it constantly; put into a saucepan and let it boil until clear, then strain.

Sweetbread Croquettes.—Parboil a pair of sweetbreads, while hot chop fine, season with salt, pepper and a piece of butter the size of a walnut, melted; roll eight crackers and mix in the chopped sweetbreads with one well beaten egg. Form in shape, dip in beaten egg, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat. A little chopped parsley may be added. Serve with parsley sauce or with a white sauce.

GERMANS TEST NEW FOODS.

Produce Mixture Said to Be Equivalent to Square Meal.

Schoeneberg, near Berlin, is experimenting with new foodstuffs intended for the poorer classes. The foods consist of a mixture of corn, dried vegetables, dried fish and meat extracts. The new product contains nutritive qualities equal to a square meal. The experiments are being carried on by the municipal commission for the feeding of poor school children.

Other German cities, following Berlin's example, attach great importance to the new food product. As all the component parts of the new food are derived from imports from foreign countries, the home productions are in no way drawn on or depleted.

SINGLE MEN IN ENGLAND.

Figures Show That Country by Description Could Have Big Army.

In view of the talk of conscription, at least for unmarried Englishmen, wide interest attaches to figures compiled by the British census officials as to the number of married and unmarried Englishmen of military age. The figures, which apply only to England and Wales, show:

Single men, 18 to 35..... 3,062,000

Married men, 18 to 35..... 1,833,000

Single men, 35 to 40..... 234,000

Married men, 35 to 40..... 1,002,000

Between the ages of fifteen and sixty-five years, the ages prescribed in the national registry bill, there are 11,100,000 men and 12,036,000 women, married and unmarried.

Buchanan Valley—Misses Hettie Sheely and Sue O'Brien, of Hilltown, recently rode through the Valley on horseback, calling upon Miss Sara Stahle, and Mrs. Frank A. Kimple and family. They expressed themselves very much pleased with their forest ride, and enjoyments of the day. They are both expert horsewomen, and ride frequently through different sections of the country.

Misses Mary Ball and Mary Cole, of York, are spending their vacation at the home of John F. Cole. Miss Cole is recovering from burns occasioned by the flames from a gas stove with which she was cooking.

The Misses Tritle, of Chambersburg, are summering in Buchanan Valley, residing at Miss Laura Dock's house.

Mrs. H. J. Brinkerhoff, of Gettysburg, and daughter, Miss Louise Brinkerhoff, of Philadelphia, accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Fee and daughter, Miss Eunice, of Indiana, spent Saturday with Miss Sara Stahle, sister of Mrs. Brinkerhoff.

Walter Moore, Sr. killed a rattler, on the road near his field, that was about four feet long, and had thirteen rattles and a button.

Mrs. H. Oyler and son spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin and children were visitors at the home of A. W. Cole on Sunday.

Miss Alice Martin and brother, William, Miss Rosalie Cole, and cousin, Richard Martin, and wife were also at A. W. Cole's on Sunday.

Mrs. James Sullivan and son, and Miss Agnes Sullivan, of Lebanon, are visiting their sister and brother, Miss Kate Sullivan and Rev. P. F. Sullivan.

Precocious Dementia.

In precocious dementia, which is due to a congenital fault, the individual is either possessed of paranoid delusions of persecution, or he is apathetic, without energy, and gradually becomes without mind. In the latter subject the diagnosis is not difficult. You see the youth who has been fairly bright gradually losing his intellect. So the process gradually goes on until he becomes merely a human being almost entirely devoid of mind.

Burns and Byron.

Burns was a better man than Byron, although Byron has, in all probability, been painted blacker than he really was. Byron, at heart, was a pessimist and cynic, while Burns, though in a sense a "believer" in the "orthodox" theology of his day, was well grounded in the conviction that the world and mankind were fundamentally good and were worth loving and working for.—Chicago American.

A Gettysburg citizen's statement forms convincing proof.

It's local testimony—it can be investigated.

Charles Wilson, farmer, R. F. D. 5, Gettysburg, says: "I have used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them fine for kidney complaint. MEMORIAL DAY FOR CHICAGO DEAD

600 Victims of River Horror
Are Buried.

START RAISING THE HULL

It Will Take Ten Days to Right the Steamer and Resume Search for the Missing.

Chicago, July 29.—With thirty persons either under arrest or detained as witnesses, official inquiry into the steamer Eastland disaster proceeded in an effort to fix responsibility for the disaster, which cost the lives of more than 1000 persons.

Indictments charging manslaughter, criminal carelessness or conspiracy will be returned by the state grand jury if the evidence presented to that body warrants such action, according to State's Attorney MacLay Hoyne. It is expected that the coroner's inquest will result in the holding of at least six persons to the grand jury.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield was busy directing the federal investigation. He examined records of the local steamboat inspection service and conferred with officials preparatory to beginning the examination of witnesses.

While the various investigation were in progress, 600 victims of the tragedy were being buried. Automobiles, trucks, cars and other vehicles were pressed into service to carry the dead. The funerals were held in a drizzling rain.

It was "Black Wednesday" in Chicago and the surrounding suburbs where the plant of the Western Electric Company is situated and where a majority of the victims lived. Thirty funerals were held from one small church. The wet streets were crowded with mourners.

The day was designated by Mayor Thompson as Memorial Day for the Eastland dead and the city honors the victims by closing all public buildings and the practical suspension of business in many sections.

Work of raising the Eastland was begun, but it will be at least ten days before the steamer is placed on its feet again and the search for the missing resumed.

Latest figures on the dead and missing were:

Identified dead, 826.
Unidentified dead, 5.
Western Electric Company revised list of missing, 5311.
Total, 1362.

As the solemn processions passed through the streets, heads were bowed and as the little churches where many of the bodies were taken would accommodate only a few, the overflow crowds paid homage on the outside, giving little heed to the inclement weather.

Mistaken identification halted one funeral. "Who are you looking for?" asked a policeman at the morgue as a boy walked in and looked anxiously about.

"Mary Morgan," came the answer. "Mary Morgan has already been identified and her body has been taken home," said the officer.

"I know all about that," said the boy, "but the body at Morgans is not Mary."

A short time later the boy identified Mary Morgan's body as one that had been brought from the river on Monday. The mistaken identification had been made by her own father.

SHEPHERD DOG MANGLES BOY

Cheek Torn Away and Body Badly Injured—Victim Dying.

Pleasantville, N. J., July 29.—In a battle with a shepherd dog, James Hawkins, 10-year-old son of Frank P. Hawkins, was badly torn about the body and is lying at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Price, in Steelmanville, a few miles from here.

The dog jumped on the boy, who was rescued from the animal by members of the family and carried into the house. One cheek was torn away.

Bulldogs Attacks Boy.

Scranton, July 29.—Two bulldogs attacked Dorrance Leonard, 7 years old, on Boulevard avenue, knocked him down and bit him savagely on the arms, legs and thighs before they were lashed off. The dog will be held for three weeks under observation for rabies.

Arizona to Execute Mexican.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 29.—A telegram from Secretary Lansing, asking further reprieves for five Mexicans under sentence to die on Friday at Florence, Ariz., was received here by Wiley Jones, Attorney-General of Arizona. Mr. Jones replied: "The United States has no right to interfere."

Girl Killed in Fall From Auto.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 29.—Hurled from the seat of an automobile and striking a projecting rock along the roadside, Miss Marina Sorenson, 18 years old, of Nanticoke, was killed on the Hunlock's Creek boulevard.

Fair Attendance Over 9,000,000.

San Francisco, July 29.—The attendance at the Panama-Pacific Exposition to date totals more than nine million.

Nothing dries sooner than a tear.

ABANDON GORZ AS ITALIANS PRESS ON

All Trains Are Held Ready to Rush Troops Off.

Rome, July 29.—Advices from Ljubljana declare that the evacuation of Gorz by the Austrians is on in earnest. It is stated that the evacuation of Podgora is also said to be a matter of hours. The despatch says:

"All the trains from Gorz have been reserved for the troops, and ammunition and food supplies will be removed later. The workmen have been ordered to cease strengthening the fortifications. Every measure has been taken for a great retreat.

The conquest of a position on Monte Del, with the capture of 3200 Austrians, is announced by the general staff. An advance on the Carpo plateau led to the capture of a strong position on San Michele, commanding the greater part of the plateau, but under heavy crossfire, the Italians were obliged to fall back below the crest.

MEXICO CITY ISOLATED

Failure of Attempts to Communicate
With Capital Alarms.

Washington, July 29.—Continued failure of attempts to communicate with Mexico City from Vera Cruz have caused keen anxiety in the State department, it was admitted. Latest despatches from the Mexican capital were dated July 20.

The Brazilian minister in Mexico City, who represents the United States there, has been unable to get despatches through to Vera Cruz. The department was unable to say whether communication was cut by Zapata bands or General Gonzalez's army of Carranzistas, which last was reported at Guadalupe.

The department denied knowledge of the reported arrangement for a peace conference at Torreon between the Villa and Carranza military chiefs.

Get Contract for 800,000 Rifles.

New York, July 29.—The Westinghouse Electric Company and Manufacturing Company has closed a contract for 800,000 additional rifles for foreign governments, it was announced. The company also has an option on 200,000 more rifles. The amount of the contract was not learned, but a former order called for a price of $27.50 a rifle.

Canned Strawberries.

To can strawberries so that they will keep their shape and color after the berries are picked over put them in a jar, with a layer of sugar and then of berries until all are used. Set them in the cellar overnight, and the sugar will penetrate them, and no water must be added (there will be sufficient juice). Have a sugar sirup on the stove hot, put the strawberries in and let them boil up gently; then fill cans with the fruit and juice all cooked together. Screw on the cover, stand the can upside down a few minutes, then turn again, changing it in this way until it is cool and the berries will not rise to the top. This way preserves the shape, color and flavor of the fruit.

CHAPTER X.

"Gentlemen, There is Your Empire!"

The seven quiet gentlemen who sat with Allison at his library table, followed the concluding flourish of his hand toward the map on the wall, and either nodded or blinked appreciatively. The red line on his map was complete now, a broad, straight line from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and to it were added, on either side, irregular, angling red lines like the legs of a centipede, the feeders of the various systems which were under control of the new Atlantic-Pacific railroad.

"That's a brilliant piece of engineering, Allison," observed huge Richard Haverman, by way of pleasant comment, and he glanced admiringly at Allison after his eye had roved around the little company of notables. The feat of bringing these seven men together at a specific hour was greater than having consolidated the brilliant new Atlantic-Pacific railroad.

"Let's get to the details," barked a voice with the volume of a St. Bernard. It came from Arthur Grandin, the head of the Union Fuel company, which controlled all the wood and coal in the United States, and all the oil in the world. His bald spot came exactly on a level with the back of his chair, and he wore a fierce mustache.

"I'm putting in the Atlantic-Pacific as my share of the pool, gentlemen," explained Allison. "My project, as I have told you, is to make this the main trunk, the vertebrae as it were, of the International Transportation company. I have consolidated with the A.P., the Municipal Transportation company, and I have put my entire fortune in it, to lay it on the table absolutely unencumbered."

He threw down the Atlantic-Pacific Railroad and the Municipal Transportation company in the form of a one-sheet typewritten paper.

"We'd better appoint someone to look after the legal end of things," suggested the towering Haverman, whose careless, lounging attitude contrasted oddly with his dignified long beard.

"I'll take care of it," said W. T. Chisholm of the Standard Cereal company, and drawing the statement in front of him, he set a paperweight on it.

"The first step is not one of incorporation," went on Allison. "Before that is done there must be but one railroad system in the United States."

Smooth-shaven old Joseph G. Clark nodded his head. There was but one cereal company in the United States, and the Standard, in the beginning, had been the smallest. Two of the heads of rival concerns were now in Clark's employ, one was a pauper, and three were dead. He disliked the pauper.

Robert E. Taylor of the American Textiles company, a man who had quite disproved the theory that constructive business genius was confined to the North, smoothed his gray mustache reflectively, with the tip of his middle finger, all the way out to its long point.

"I can see where you will tear up the east and west traffic situation to a considerable extent," he thoughtfully commented; "but without the important north and south main trunks you cannot make a tight web."

Allison went over to his wall map, with a step in which there was the spring of a boy. A. L. Vance of the United States Supplies company, which controlled beef, sugar and practically all other food products, except those mighty necessities under the sways of the Standard Cereal company and Eldridge Babbitt's National Dairy Products consolidation, studied the buoyant Allison with a puzzled expression. He had seen Allison grow to care-burdened manhood, and suddenly Ed seemed twenty years younger. Only Eldridge Babbitt knew the secret of this miraculous rejuvenescence. Babbitt had married late in life; a beautiful young woman!

"The key to the north and south situation is here," said Allison, and he drew a firm, swift, green line down across the United States, branching at each end. "George Dalrymple will be here in half an hour, and by that time I trust we may come to some agreement."

"It depends on what you want," boomed Arthur Grandin, who, sitting beside the lumbering Haverman, looked as if that giant had shrunk him by his mere proximity.

"Freight, to begin with," stated Allison, resuming his place at the head of the table, but not his seat. "You gentlemen represent the largest freightage interests in the United States. You all know your relative positions, and yet, in order to grasp this situation completely, I wish to enumerate them. Babbitt's National Dairy Products consolidation can swing the shipment of every ounce of butter, cream, cheese, eggs and poultry handled in this country; Clark's Standard Cereal company, wheat, corn, oats, rice, barley, malt, flour, every ounce of breadstuffs or cereal goods, grown on American soil; Haverman, the Amalgamated Metals Constructive company, every pound of iron, lead and copper, and every ton of ore, from the moment it leaves the ground until it appears as an iron web in a city sky or spans a river; Grandin, the Union Fuel company, coal and wood, from Alaska to Pennsylvania, with oil and all its enormous by-products; Taylor, the American Textiles company, wool, cotton, flax, the raw and finished material of every thread of clothing we wear, or any other textile fabric we use except silks; Vance, the United States Supplies company, meat, sugar, fruit, the main blood and sinew builders of the country. Gentlemen, give me the freightage controlled by your six companies, and I'll toss the rest of the country's freightage to a beggar."

"You forgot Chisholm," Babbitt reminded him, and Banker Chisholm's white mutton-chops turned pink from the appreciation which glowed in his ruddy-veined face.

"Allison was quite right," returned big Haverman with a dry smile. "The freightage income on money is an item scarcely worth considering."

"Give the Atlantic-Pacific this freight, and, inside of two years, the entire business of the United States, with all its ramifications, will be merged in one management, and that management ours. We shall not need to absorb, nor purchase, a single railroad until it is bankrupt."

"Sensible idea, Allison," approved Clark of the Standard Cereal company. "It's a logical proposition which I had in mind years ago."

"Allison's stroke of genius, it seems to me, consists in getting us together," smiled Haverman, hanging his arm over the back of his chair.

Banker Chisholm leaned forward on the table, and stroked his round chin reflectively. "There would be some disorganization, and perhaps financial disorder, in the first two years," he considered; "but the railroads are already harassed too much by the government to thrive under competition, and, in the end, I believe this proposed centralization would be the best thing for the interests of the country;" wherein Chisholm displayed that he was a vestryman of Market Square church wherever he went.

"What is your proposition?" asked Grandin, who, because of the self-assertion necessitated by his diminutive size, seemed pompous, but was not. No pompous man could have merged the wood, coal and oil interests, and, having merged them, swung them over his own shoulder.

Allison's answer consisted of one word.

"Consolidation," he said. "There was a moment of silence, while these men absorbed that simple idea, and glanced speculatively, not at Allison, but at each other. They were kings, these heads of mighty corporations, whose emissaries carried their sovereignties into the farthest corners of the earth. Like friendly kings, they had helped each other in the protection of their several domains; but this was another matter.

"That's a large proposition, Ed," stated Vance, very thoughtfully. All sense of levity had gone from this meeting. They had come, as they thought, to promote a large mutual interest, but not to weld a Frankenstein. "I did not understand your project to be so comprehensive. I fancied your idea to be that the various companies represented here, with Chisholm as financial controller, should take a mutual interest in the support of the Atlantic-Pacific, for the purpose of consolidating the railroad interests of the country under one management, thereby serving our own transportation

"That is a mere logical development of the railroad situation," returned Allison. "If I had not cemented this direct route, someone would have made the consolidation you mention within ten years, for the entire railroad situation has been disorganized since the death of three big men in that field; and the scattered holdings would be, and are, an easy prey for anyone vitally interested enough to invade the industry. I have no such minor proposition in mind. I propose, with the Atlantic-Pacific as a nucleus, to first, as I have said, bring the financial terminals of every mile of railroad in the United States into one central office. With this I then propose to combine the National Dairy Products consolidation, the Standard Cereal company, the Amalgamated Metals Constructive company, the Union Fuel, American Textiles, the United States Supplies, and the stupendous financial interests swayed by the banks tributary to the Majestic Trust company. I propose to weld these gigantic concerns into one corporation, which shall be the mightiest organization the world has ever known. Beginning with the control of transportation, it will control all food, all apparel, all construction materials, all fuel. From the shoes on his feet to the roof over his head, every man in the United States of America, from laborer to president, shall pay tribute to the International Transportation company. Gentlemen, if I have dreamed big, it is because I have dealt with men who deal only in large dreams. What I propose is an empire greater than that ever swayed by any monarch in history. We eight men, who are here in this room, can build that empire with a scratch of a pen, and can hold it against the assaults of the world!"

His voice rang as he finished, and Babbitt looked at him in wonder. Allison had always been a strong man, but now, in this second youth, he was an Antaeus springing fresh from the earth. There was a moment's lull, and then a nasal voice drawled into the silence.

"Allison;" it was the voice of old Joseph G. Clark, who had built the Standard Cereal company out of one wheat elevator; who is to be the monarch of your new empire?"

For just a moment Allison looked about him. Vastly different as these men were, from the full-bearded Haverman to the smooth-shaven old Joseph G. Clark, there was some one expression which was the same in every man, and that expression was mastery. These men, by the sheer force of their personality, by the sheer dominance of their wills, by the sheer virility of their purposes, by the sheer dogged persistence which balks at no obstacle and hesitates at no foe, had fought and struggled and throttled their way to the top, until they stood head and shoulders above all the strong men of their respective domains, safe from protest or dispute of sovereignty, because none has risen strong enough to do them battle. They were the undefeated champions of their classes, and the life of every man in that group was an epic! Who was to be monarch of the new empire? Allison answered that question as simply as he had the others.

"The best man," he said. "There had been seven big men in America. Now there were eight. They all recognized that. "Of course," went on Allison, "my proposition does not assume that any man here will begin by relinquishing control of his own particular branch of the International Transportation company; sugar, beef, iron, steel, oil and the other commodities will all be under their present handling; but each branch will so support and benefit the other that the position of the consolidation itself will be impregnable against competition or the assaults of government. The advantages of control, collection and distribution, are so vast that they far outweigh any possible question of personal aggrandizement."

"Don't hedge, Allison," barked Arthur Grandin. "You expressed it right in the first place. You're putting it up to us to step out of the local championship class, and contend for the big belt."

"The prize isn't big enough," pronounced W. T. Chisholm, as if he had decided for them all. As befitted his calling, he was slower minded than the rest. There are few quick turns in banking.

Medical Advertising Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wavy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.
